

Chicago Labor Bombers Stole City Dynamite

Terrorists Took Sufficient Explosive From Storehouses at Tunnel Job to Blow Up Half Town

Four More Shot to Death

Dozen New Suspects Taken by the Police; Many Are Held in Secret Places

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

CHICAGO, May 13.—The dynamite used by labor terrorists in the attack against the Landis building trades ward was stolen from the city of Chicago. Hundreds of pounds of it, enough to blow up half the city, was hauled away. This disclosure came today with new confessions and admissions to Charles C. Fitzmorris, Chief of Police, that are so amazing in scope that they were said to tear the masks off the "higher ups" as well as the "kitties" in the bomb and murder Camorra that culminated early Wednesday in the killing of two policemen.

While the police were redoubting their efforts to clear up the latest development in the bombing outrage which has aroused all Chicago to wage war against the labor terrorists, the police were told that the dynamite was taken from the storehouses of the big water tunnel being laid in the Southwest Avenue from Sixty-third to Sixty-ninth streets. It was to be used for the solid rock blasting. Special police details were put to work in the hope of running down the dynamite thieves, as the officials in charge of the labor war, the killings, early Wednesday, were convinced that these men, if apprehended, can name the plotters.

While this new information was being obtained by Chief Fitzmorris, picked men of the Police Department were reported to be slowly closing in on the actual gunmen in the bombings and killings, early Wednesday. Arrests were said to be imminent. More than a dozen new suspects, rounded up overnight, as they were drawn into the city police investigation, were grilling by Chief of Detectives Hughes. Their names were closely guarded. Some were hidden in outlying stations.

With the arrest of the additional suspects in the past few days, the men, prosecutors prepared to go before the grand jury at once and ask additional indictments.

Arrests were made, Chief Fitzmorris admitted, on information received in three confessions of suspects picked up with "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader, Con Shea and other labor leaders already indicted for murder in connection with the slayings.

Ask Immigrant Trial
Attorneys Charles E. Erbe and Francis W. Walker appeared in the court, presided over by Chief Justice Scanlan, and asked an immediate trial for Murphy and Mader.

"We are ready to go on trial at once," said Attorney Erbe, "and we do not want to delay justice."

Judge Scanlan continued the motion and said that a protest had been made by Assistant State's Attorney Gorman.

While the motion was being argued two policemen came into court with a habeas corpus writ of the writ of habeas corpus filed last Wednesday. The writ was dismissed when it was announced he had been indicted, and he was served with a capias by a deputy sheriff and taken forthwith to the county jail.

Prisoner Fights Release Attempt
One of the confessions already obtained was made by Henry Hanson, who made an appeal to be allowed to remain in jail when a writ of habeas corpus for his release came up before Judge Hebel.

"Please don't release me," he asked. "Allow me to remain in police custody."

Hanson is said to have implicated Shea as an actual member of the slaying slugging gangs and Murphy as the directing hand of the campaign of terrorism.

While Chief Fitzmorris to-day was trying to run down the actual slayers, thousands of persons paid final honors to the two policemen who were killed by the gunmen. Impressive ceremonies of a semi-military character marked the funerals of the victims, Lieutenant Terrence Lyons and Patrolman Thomas Clark, held simultaneously this morning at their homes and churches.

Father W. L. Brawley in his sermon decried the lawlessness of "the beasts of unreason who prey upon the law abiding."

Woman Plunges to Death From Third-Story Window
Mrs. Rachel Goldstein committed suicide yesterday by plunging from the third-story window of her apartment at 264 Suydam Street, Brooklyn, to the street below. She was killed with women and children. She was unconscious when carried into a nearby store by a policeman and died a few minutes later. Her husband, Herman Goldstein, a dry goods salesman, said his wife had been suffering from tuberculosis and heart trouble. In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children.

Insists 111-Year-Old Wine Is Wife's Tonic

Max Rabinoff, the Russian musician and patriot, who arrived on the Olympic on Wednesday with sixteen quarts of champagne bottled in 1811 for the Emperor Napoleon, will apply to the prohibition authorities here on Monday for a permit to bring the liquor into the country as medicine for his wife.

Surprise was expressed at enforcement headquarters yesterday that such costly tonic should be necessary to Mrs. Rabinoff's health, but the officials declared that they had no desire to deprive her of anything she requires.

Blames Soviet for Labor Radicalism in America

Newly Elected Ladies' Garment Workers' Head Tells Convention of Russians' Methods

CLEVELAND, May 13.—How Russian Soviet agents sowed the seeds of radicalism in labor organizations of this country, and particularly in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, was revealed by Benjamin Schlesinger, of New York, on the final day of the union's convention after he was re-elected president for a two year term. Abraham Baroff, of New York, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

"While in Russia last year I talked at length with Nikolai Lenin, who introduced me to Leo Bogratov as the head of the Soviet needle trade international," Schlesinger said. "This Bogratov came to America last year and proposed that our union affiliate with the Third Internationale of Moscow. I laughed at him and he grew abusive, threatened to organize a Red needle organization in America and said he would tear wide open not only our union but all organized labor bodies in this country."

"I showed him the door when he said this, and told him to get the hell out of my sight. I warned him to leave this country as quickly as possible."

"I am positive that Bogratov is behind the radicalism in labor organizations of this country, that the anti-democratic reaction in our own organization is the result of his work, and that we workers in this country must fight not only the greed and selfishness of American capitalists but the Red menace of Russia."

Children of Miners Here To Ask Help in Strike

Aim to Collect $35,000 to Buy Supplies of Bacon, Cornmeal and Flour

Two little girls dressed in calico, and a barefoot boy arrived in New York yesterday in the midst of the police men, prosecutors prepared to go before the grand jury at once and ask additional indictments.

Arrests were made, Chief Fitzmorris admitted, on information received in three confessions of suspects picked up with "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader, Con Shea and other labor leaders already indicted for murder in connection with the slayings.

Ask Immigrant Trial
Attorneys Charles E. Erbe and Francis W. Walker appeared in the court, presided over by Chief Justice Scanlan, and asked an immediate trial for Murphy and Mader.

"We are ready to go on trial at once," said Attorney Erbe, "and we do not want to delay justice."

Judge Scanlan continued the motion and said that a protest had been made by Assistant State's Attorney Gorman.

While the motion was being argued two policemen came into court with a habeas corpus writ of the writ of habeas corpus filed last Wednesday. The writ was dismissed when it was announced he had been indicted, and he was served with a capias by a deputy sheriff and taken forthwith to the county jail.

Prisoner Fights Release Attempt
One of the confessions already obtained was made by Henry Hanson, who made an appeal to be allowed to remain in jail when a writ of habeas corpus for his release came up before Judge Hebel.

"Please don't release me," he asked. "Allow me to remain in police custody."

Hanson is said to have implicated Shea as an actual member of the slaying slugging gangs and Murphy as the directing hand of the campaign of terrorism.

While Chief Fitzmorris to-day was trying to run down the actual slayers, thousands of persons paid final honors to the two policemen who were killed by the gunmen. Impressive ceremonies of a semi-military character marked the funerals of the victims, Lieutenant Terrence Lyons and Patrolman Thomas Clark, held simultaneously this morning at their homes and churches.

Father W. L. Brawley in his sermon decried the lawlessness of "the beasts of unreason who prey upon the law abiding."

Woman Plunges to Death From Third-Story Window
Mrs. Rachel Goldstein committed suicide yesterday by plunging from the third-story window of her apartment at 264 Suydam Street, Brooklyn, to the street below. She was killed with women and children. She was unconscious when carried into a nearby store by a policeman and died a few minutes later. Her husband, Herman Goldstein, a dry goods salesman, said his wife had been suffering from tuberculosis and heart trouble. In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children.

Obregon Holds Oil Properties As State Owned

Mexican President Says Subsoil Rights to Unexplored Lands Belong to the Government by New Ruling

Silent on Commission

Financial Aspects of Problem Will Be Settled in N. Y. He Tells Correspondents

Special Cable to The Tribune

MEXICO CITY, May 13.—President Obregon explained to the correspondents to-day, in connection with the Mexican Supreme Court's fifth decision yesterday defining Article 27 of the Mexican constitution as non-retroactive, that his personal opinion of the interpretation of the law was that subsoil rights claimed before that constitution was adopted were the property of the surface owner, but if not claimed before that time were the property of the state.

"If you want some rights you have to pay for them," the President said. Land owners ordinarily have paid taxes for surface rights, and not subsoil, the President explained. All those who gave notice of their intention to utilize the subsoil were taxed additionally for that privilege. Therefore, the President said, the government respected the rights of those owners to the subsoil. But those who paid taxes only for the surface were entitled only to surface rights, he said.

Now Belong to State
The President was asked whether the subsoil of lands held but not explored by oil companies was the property of the state. He replied that it undoubtedly was, as these were the rights referred to in Article 27 of the constitution, which nationalizes the subsoil.

President Obregon refused to express an official opinion regarding the proposed official commission to adjust differences between the governments of the United States and Mexico. He said that all he knew of the matter was what had been published by the newspapers. He refused to indicate whether he would favor such a commission to iron out the obstacles to recognition of his regime by Washington, explaining that the matter had not come before the Cabinet and that he could not therefore express any opinion.

Asked regarding the possibility of recognition of the Guatemalan government by Mexico, President Obregon recognized their own administration as legally constituted. He saw no reason why Mexico should withhold recognition. Asked when recognition would be granted, he replied: "Very shortly."

Now a Matter of Money
Answering a question whether Adolfo de la Huerta, Minister of the Treasury, was going to Washington or New York on his projected visit to the United States, the President with apparent reluctance said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York. He added that he thought that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Asked whether he thought the Mexican government could reach an agreement with the New York bankers, the President said that if a debt of honor stood that the financial conference which De la Huerta will attend are to be held in New York.

Rockefeller and Morgan On Blackmailing List

"Don't See Why I Can't Get Mine, Too," Hoboken Prisoner Tells Judge

Fred Egger, twenty-three years old, of 613 Garden Street, Hoboken, was held in $2,000 bail by Police Judge Carstens in the Hoboken Police Court, yesterday on a charge of attempted blackmail. The police uncovered a notebook in which were listed the names of John D. Rockefeller, J. Pierpont Morgan Jr. and officials of the Lackawanna Railroad.

Egger was arrested following the receipt of a letter by Louis Ferguson, a business man of Hoboken, demanding $1,000 or there would be "something doing." Egger's name and address was attached to the letter.

"I don't see why, if Rockefeller, Morgan and the others can give so much to the Y. M. C. A. and other drives, I can't get mine also," declared the prisoner in court.

The book taken from him had both Rockefeller and Morgan listed for $1,000 each and the others for $500.

Carter Will Retire as Engineers' President

Establishment of $5,000,000 Labor Press Recommended to Brotherhood Convention

HOUSTON, Tex., May 13 (By The Associated Press).—William S. Carter, of Cleveland, president of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, announced to-day before the delegates to the twenty-ninth triennial of the order that he would not be a candidate for re-election as president of the organization. He has headed for fourteen years, it was learned to-night from an official source.

A $5,000,000 fund to establish a labor press was recommended by a special committee of the Brotherhood to the convention to-day. It is the purpose to publish several newspapers.

Another committee is considering a proposal from the chairman of the four railway brotherhoods that each one advance $5,000 to their legislative boards to aid the campaign of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, for re-election.

Mother and Baby Saved In Fire Escape Trap

Policeman Plays "Human Fly" to Reach Victims of Apartment House Blaze

Twenty-four families in the five-story apartment house at 1509 Brook Avenue, the Bronx, were awakened by cries of "Fire!" early yesterday morning and found the hallways filled with smoke.

Mrs. Hyman Gerber, the first to reach the fire escape, decided to lead her second floor balcony with her eight-year-old daughter and found she could not lower the ladder to the street. She was poised for a leap, still clinging to her child, when Patrolman John Ahearn, of the Bathgate Avenue police station, saw her.

Velling to her to stay where she was, he began climbing up the face of the building, hauling himself up by means of awning supports, digging his toes into crevices and catching at projecting ledges. When he got to the fire escape, he lowered the ladder and carried Mrs. Gerber and her child down.

Schoolboys' Fight Over Girl Is Fatal

Youth Dies After First Blow, and Lad He Fought With Is Held

HAVERHILL, Mass., May 13.—Investigation of an alleged quarrel between two youths after a high school dance in the city followed by a fight, resulted yesterday in the death of a youth charged with manslaughter because of the death of Herman M. Taber, who was found dead in bed at his home this morning.

According to the police, Claridge said that he and Taber had a quarrel over a girl who had accompanied Taber to the dance, and that he struck Taber on the jaw, Taber falling, his head hitting the street. Afterward Taber is said to have walked to his home.

Dr. Elmer S. Bagnall said he found no bruises on Taber except a slight contusion on the forehead, insufficient to cause death, and a swollen upper lip. From a slight swelling in the neck, the doctor was of the opinion that death might have been caused by a break or dislocation of a vertebra.

Dr. Francis W. Anthony, the medical examiner, reserved his opinion of the cause.

Frank L. Stone Dies
BENSON, Minn., May 13.—Frank L. Stone, forty-six years old, local banker and president of the British-American Timber Company, which has holdings of 62,000 acres on Vancouver Island, died at his home here last night.

Children Smoked 250 Yrs. Ago

Some two hundred and fifty years ago children in England were sent to school with pipes in their satchels, and the schoolmaster called a halt in their studies when they all smoked.

Figs Called Natural Sweet
Next to honey, and almost as ancient, figs are one of the most natural of our sweet foods.

Mellon Refuses to Accept Report on Engraving Inquiry

Instructs Bureau Director and Paper Custodian to Make Joint Consideration of Differences Revealed

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, May 13.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to-day declined to accept the report of the special committee to investigate the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and complete an inventory, following the peremptory dismissal by order of President Harding of thirty employees more than a month ago.

In returning the report to Louis A. Hill, Director of the Bureau, and F. J. Collins, Custodian of Paper, Secretary Mellon directed that they make a joint consideration of the report and the "differences revealed." Hill and Collins are both appointees of President Harding, filling places vacated by men who were ousted in the wholesale clean up of the engraving plant.

Treasury officials explained that the report merely listed such discrepancies between the two groups as petty thefts, which had been taken care of by the Secret Service in the past, and any new discrepancies which were unaccounted for.

Neither Director Hill nor Custodian Collins worked with the Treasury committee in the compilation of the report.

As explained by officials to-day, the report of the committee shows a check of the paper on hand against the book of the custodian of paper, also known as "Chief of the Division of Paper Custody."

The Custodian of Paper is charged by the Secretary of the Treasury with responsibility for the amount of paper issued for the printing of money, stamps, certificates, etc., at the bureau at the bureau through the many processes it undergoes in completion, numerous counts are made to safeguard every sheet.

Guard Accused of Aiding In $400 Liquor Theft

Said to Have Confessed Helping Robbery of House He Was Employed to Protect

James Kelly, employed as district manager of the Aster Motor Patrol to protect estates near Great Neck, L. I., was arrested early yesterday on a charge of three alleged principals in a $400 liquor robbery which occurred April 22 in the home of Byron E. Eldred, president of the village of Kensington, one of those whose property the police are investigating.

According to a confession he is alleged to have made to county detectives, Kelly stood with drawn revolver and in uniform on the Eldred lawn while two accomplices broke into the house.

Five other arrests in the case were made later. William H. Brown, a taxicab driver, and Joseph Rosikewicz, alias "Red Cabbage," charged with the actual robbery, were held in $5,000 bail each by Justice of the Peace Arnold Kohler, in Westbury, who fixed the same amount of bail for Kelly.

Arthur N. Pick and Vincent C. Cirrington, proprietors of the Arlington Inn at Great Neck, were arrested on a charge of purchasing part of the stolen liquor and were released in $1,000 bail each. George Yost was held in $2,000 bail charged with selling six cases of the whisky in Hempstead.

50 Don Bloomers at Bedford

Fifty prisoners at the Bedford Reformatory for Women in Bedford, N. Y., were put into khaki bloomers yesterday and set to work in the garden. Many more volunteered for the job. The gardeners will not live in dormitories, as heretofore, but in cottages on the campus.

Fur Storage—2% on valuation

Jay - Thorpe Inc.

24 FIFTY-SEVENTH STREET WEST

Special Offering of DRESSES

for Monday

Frocks of figured Crepe de Chine, eight distinctive models. Suitable for country wear—specially priced.

29.50

A smart model frock developed in plain and figured Georgette crepe, made over Crepe de Chine slip.

49.50

A number of summer dresses of imported figured Chiffon Cloth of exceptional quality; included are a number of Polka Dot Crepe de Chine.

69.50

About ten Chiffon robes of a dainty type. These dresses sold at 165.00.

79.50

All these dresses are of exceptional value

Jewels Vanish When Girl Inspects Rooms for Rent

Police Search for Comely Young Woman Who Has Robbed Several Jersey Homes

The police of northern New Jersey are searching for a dark, comely young woman who, during the last week, has robbed several apartment houses of jewelry after leading the owners to believe she had intended to sublease the rooms for the summer months. Her loot is estimated by the police to reach thousands of dollars.

The woman appeared yesterday at the apartment of Mrs. C. A. Gross in Alban Court, Boulevard and Fairview avenue, Jersey City. She said she had answered Mrs. Gross's advertisement in a local paper. She inspected the rooms carefully, declared them to be "perfectly adorable" and that she would return later with her husband to make the necessary arrangements.

Soon after she had gone several valuable rings, a diamond brooch and other trinkets were missing.

A woman whose description is identical with that of the one who robbed Mrs. Gross two days before visited Mrs. C. B. Reil at the Summit apartment, Boulevard and Slip Avenue, Jersey City, giving the same reason for her visit. Several pieces of jewelry were discovered to be missing after she had gone.

Thefts of a similar nature have been reported within the last week in the police of Bayonne and West Hoboken.

$370,000 Needed for Henry Street Settlement

Amount Is in Excess of Normal Budget of $500,000, Report Shows

Describing the work of the Henry Street Settlement for the last year, Miss Lillian D. Wald, president, in a report issued yesterday to the board of directors, discusses the work of the nursing service, which is said to be the largest in the world, and gives details of the work being done at the community houses conducted by the organization.

In addition to the nursing service, for which four-fifths of the budget is expended, the report describes the club work, children's work, classes, Neighborhood Playhouse programs, rest home for tired mothers, daytime seashore trips in summer, camp for boys and other activities of the Henry Street center.

In addition to the normal budget of nearly $500,000 for the coming year, the special needs of the settlement are listed as follows: $50,000, additional nurses; $40,000, training public health nurses; $100,000, health centers; $100,000, complete maternity service; $10,000, additional anti-gang workers; $50,000, Lincoln House; $50,000, boys' camp; $10,000, new building for Yorktown Heights; $5,000, fresh air home; $10,000, summer relief in city; $10,000, emergency relief; $2,000, Hamilton House; and $25,000 for city neighborhood work at the Seventy-ninth Street house.

Payday for Brickyard Strikers Is Uneventful

State Troopers Still on Guard, but Report No Signs of Disorder

No disorder attended the payment of the negro brickyard workers yesterday at Haverstraw. Only a small percentage of the 1,800 who went on strike last Thursday received their pay, however, due to the fact that most of them are transient workers.

The state troopers assigned to the brickyard district on Friday reported everything quiet. Several hundred of the strikers have left Haverstraw for other brickyards in the vicinity. The Haverstraw yards have not resumed operation, the employers taking the attitude that the strike gradually will pluck itself out and a new force be recruited.

The troopers are eight in number. No order had been issued last night for their withdrawal. The strikers when they walked out demanded increases in pay averaging $1 a day.

Jersey Bankers Ask For Reappointment Of W. P. G. Harding

Senator Runyon Suggests Human Touch Might Aid Aliens; Rufus Keisler Jr. Is Elected President

ATLANTIC CITY, May 13.—At the closing session here to-day of the New Jersey Bankers' Association a resolution was passed urging the reappointment of Governor W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, at the expiration of his term in August.

Senator William N. Runyon, Republican candidate for Governor, in a speech, asked the bankers to put a little more of the human touch into their dealings with the foreigners coming into this country and thus aid the great work of naturalization.

The American banker, he said, "has a nice chance to get in touch with the immigrants coming into this country, who visualize great things and then begin to doubt them, because there is no one to aid them in their tasks here. There's a great opportunity for the banker to aid his country in aiding the foreigners."

A hundred per cent membership of the banks of the state was announced. Sixty new applications were acted upon, bringing into the fold every one of the 426 institutions in New Jersey. Rufus Keisler Jr., vice-president of the Ironbound Trust Company, of Newark, was unanimously elected president of the association. Other officers were: Vice-president, Frederick F. Schock, of Spring Lake; treasurer, Spencer S. Marsh, of Newark; executive committee, Howard Diddolph, Bloomfield; E. Morse Archer, Camden; E. A. Halsey, Paterson. The convention will return to Atlantic City next year.

$6,344 in Rare Stamps Are Stolen by Collector

Thefts From Office of Broadway Firm Reported to the Police

M. Phillips, of the Elite Stamp Co., Inc., 1452 Broadway, notified the police yesterday that an unidentified collector, believed to be a Scandinavian about thirty years old, had stolen rare postage stamps valued at $6,344 from their offices at some time between May 2 and May 8. The police were told that this person was a frequent buyer of stamps from many dealers in the city, usually buying about $5 or $10 worth at each visit, offering a few rare stamps for sale, and meanwhile stealing everything within reach.

Included among the stamps taken from the Elite Company were six complete sets of surcharged issues put out by former German colonies in the Pacific. Two sets of German New Guinea, two sets of German Samoa and two sets of Marshall Island stamps were stolen. The value of these sets, comprising about ninety stamps, is $5,100.

Motorist Has Another Arrested; Bails Him Out

Charles J. Muller, forty-one years old, of 145 Grace Street, Jersey City, was driving his automobile along the Hudson Boulevard in West Hoboken yesterday when another car driven by Herbert Buhning, twenty-four, of 604 River Terrace, Hoboken, crashed into him.

Muller said it was Buhning's fault. Buhning said it was Muller's. Muller had Buhning arrested. At the police station Buhning made a counter charge against Muller for reckless driving. Then each was asked to supply a $50 cash bond to assure his appearance in court. Muller readily furnished his, but the younger motorist looked sheepishly at two $1 bills in his hand.

There was an embarrassing moment, then, when Muller handed over another $50 and bailed Buhning out.

Bride Denies Father Holds Her Prisoner

Court Dismisses Writ Obtained by Policeman's Son Against Wealthy Manufacturer

Mrs. Dorothy Ruth Lincoln Posa, nineteen-year-old daughter of Lincoln A. Lincoln, of 336 West Eighty-fourth Street, a wealthy cigar manufacturer, appeared before Justice Wasservogel of the Supreme Court yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by her husband, Bertram Harold Posa, twenty-one-year-old law student and son of Patrolman Charles C. Posa.

The couple were married on May 4, since which date, according to Mr. Posa, his bride has been held a prisoner. The writ was directed to Mr. Lincoln, her father, who was ordered to produce his daughter before the court. When the case was called yesterday morning neither Mr. Lincoln nor Mrs. Posa was present.

Justice Wasservogel insisted on the presence of the young bride, saying that the order of the court was being disobeyed. The justice adjourned the hearing to the afternoon to give Mrs. Posa time to come to court.